The years rolled on, the mother died, The boys to manhood grow; The way to heaven they know, So now in ways of death and sin, Together they did stray; And soon onthroned their hearts within, The devil had the sway. For many years they drunkards were,

And outcasts had become: But drinking at the bar down there, That with their drum and singing, soon Outside they'd drawn the crowd. And as they sang of "Beckoning hands," Of wandering boys in sin, They seemed to hear their mother pray, Their old cottage home within. The brothers went to the Army hall, Drawn by an Army drum; They heard them tell that sinhers all

--- OHOLUS

For Jesus is our Tracher,
Our Guide and Helper, coo,
Our never-failing Friend,
And He'll tell un whnt to do.
He'll bear us airfely through,
If we go to Him and ask.
What would Jesus do?

If sometimes at your station
Your soldiers may be cold.
Your soldiers may be cold.
And some of them have wandered
Away out from the fold.
And some have lest their firstilova
For God and soule, too.
Just tell the Lord, and ask Him
What would Jeous do?

What would Jesus do?

Who was the world should tall you was acting such a fool.

You should not be a realous, "ake things a little cool.

And Satan, too, may tell you.

To put on a little style.
